In their excellent book, Clean Language: Revealing Metaphors and Opening Minds, Wendy Sullivan and Judy Rees give an in-depth yet highly accessible route-map for understanding the metaphorical nature of human perception, and for developing powerful skills for working in the domain of personal metaphor. While I expected the subject to be covered in masterful detail, what I didn't anticipate was such a cogent and useful introduction to the role metaphors play in perception.

Metaphors are a natural language of the mind, particularly the unconscious mind. Clean Language uses the casual metaphors that occur naturally in speech to reveal the hidden depths of our thought processes. Clean Language brings thoughts we have not been conscious of into our awareness, where they can be shared and enjoyed - and understood.
